I. Document Overview

The purpose of this Guidebook is to serve as a resource for new and existing Acquisition Career Managers (ACMs) at agencies covered by the Chief Financial Officers \(CFO\) Act of 1990. It is meant to serve as a reference document for ACMs and as an aid for onboarding new ACMs by providing guidance that is helpful to their role. Additionally, this document may be useful for other acquisition staff and stakeholders that may be involved with or interested in learning more about ACMs' roles and responsibilities.

This document contains the following sections:

- Document Overview – Provides an overview of the ACM Guidebook, its purpose, and structure.
- ACM Responsibilities – Includes information, resources, and suggested steps that are related to each of the core ACM responsibilities.
- Other Acquisition Roles and Groups – Describes the different types of positions and groups that ACMs are likely to interact with.
- Source Documents – Includes key policies, guidance, and related resources that are relevant to the work of ACMs.
- Appendices – Provides additional information and materials that may be useful for ACMs in carrying out their responsibilities.

The primary content for this Guidebook is contained within the ACM Responsibilities section, which was developed in collaboration with members of the Interagency Acquisition Career Manager Committee (IACMC).

In addition to the CFO Act agency ACMs, the Small Agency Council (SAC) Procurement Committee has identified six “Super Agency Certification Managers” (Super ACMs) to support federal acquisition certifications and continuous learning achievement requests at over 90 small federal agencies within the SAC. Their primary responsibility is to oversee the input and maintenance of information into the Federal Acquisition Institute Training Application System (FAITAS) related to certifications and learning achievement requests. The SAC Super ACMs are not responsible for the additional ACM responsibilities described in this Guidebook.

Please note that while this information is provided as a guide, ACMs should adapt the proposed steps and suggestions to meet the unique needs of his/her individual agency.

II. ACM Responsibilities

This section is organized around the core ACM responsibilities as identified in the Office of Federal Procurement Policy's (OFPP) Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce and in additional OFPP policies as described in the Source Documents section. Core ACM responsibilities include:

1. Manage the identification and development of the acquisition workforce; including identifying staffing needs, training requirements, and other workforce development strategies. Maintain and manage consistent agency-wide data on those serving in the agency's acquisition workforce in the acquisition career management information system, Federal Acquisition Institute Training Application System (FAITAS).
2. Propose to the Chief Acquisition Officer (CAO) an annual budget for the development of the acquisition workforce to fulfill the requirements of this Letter (Policy 05-01) and other agency human capital objectives.
3. Work with the CAO to develop and update the agency's Annual Human Capital Plan (AHCP). Provide coordinated input to the CAO and Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO) regarding short and long term human capital strategic planning for training, competency fulfillment, career development, accession, recruitment and retention, and other facets of human capital management affecting the acquisition workforce.
4. Ensure that agency policies and procedures for workforce management are consistent with those established by OFPP, as appropriate, including the Federal Acquisition Certification (FAC) policy memos (FAC-C, FAC-P/PM, and FAC-COR).
5. In accordance with the May 7, 2014 OFPP Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification in Contracting \(FAC-C\), recommend to the Senior Procurement Executive (SPE) waivers to the GS-1102 education and training provisions of OFPP Policy Letter 05-01 as needed for hiring and warranting purposes in accordance with the qualification standards. (Note that SPEs may not waive FAC-C certification requirements.)
6. In accordance with the December 16, 2013 Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification for Program and Project Managers, FAC-P/PM, recommend to the agency CAO, or designee, on a case-by-case basis, extensions to the date which a Project and Program Manager (P/PM) must be certified.

Each of these responsibilities is described in more detail in the following chapters. Each responsibility chapter contains the following common elements:

- Overview – Discusses the responsibility area and identifies key tasks.
- Suggested Steps – Provides suggested steps for ACMs to use in accomplishing the responsibility as obtained from focus group discussions with current IACMC members. Please note that the workflow steps are provided as suggestions and are not required. These steps may vary by agency and should be modified or amended as needed. Also, different agencies will have different sets of stakeholders to coordinate with and different resources available to them.
- Tools, Resources, and Source Documents – Includes reference materials and templates that can be used in the course of fulfilling the responsibility.

Additional responsibilities may be delegated to the ACM from the CAO. ACMs should refer to their CAO and agency policies to verify which, if any, have been delegated. A list of CAO responsibilities is provided in Appendix A.

For a brief overview of the ACM role, an introductory video, entitled the 5 W's of an ACM, is available for viewing at: https://www.fai.gov/media_library/items/show/90.

Communications

While not explicitly stated in the key ACM responsibilities, communications are an important part of the ACM's role as they serve as a critical linkage point in the flow of information to and from the acquisition workforce. ACMs state that effective communication and active engagement with the workforce and other stakeholders is a key factor in determining how successful they are in carrying out each responsibilities. An ACM is expected to help communicate information to the workforce about matters that impact them such as:

- Changes in certification requirements,
- Updates in acquisition workforce policies,
- Information regarding training and development opportunities, and
- News and programs from OFPP, the Federal Acquisition Institute (FAI), IACMC, Functional Advisory Boards (FABs), and other acquisition workforce groups.

When communicating information to the acquisition workforce or other acquisition stakeholders, ACMs should:

- Determine the appropriate audience for the message. When preparing a communication it is important to consider who will be impacted by the information. It may be helpful to ask what individuals or groups are responsible for or accountable for certain actions and who needs to be consulted or informed. ACMs commented that FAITAS reports or prepopulated distribution lists can be instrumental for identifying and contacting the intended audience. See the ACM Responsibilities Section Chapter 1, Data Driven Workforce Management, for more information about identifying the acquisition workforce.
- Clearly identify relevant actions and timelines. Messages should clearly state what the receiver needs to do with the information and by when; otherwise, messages that do not appear relevant to the receiver might be misunderstood or ignored.
- Use multiple communication methods for reaching the intended audience. Utilizing more than one way of reaching your audience increases the likelihood that the message will be received. The exact mix of methods should be tailored to the message content and intended audience and may include email, website posts, social media, staff meetings, flyers, briefings, FAITAS agency specific email distributions, and personal communications among others. Additionally, current departmental level ACMs stress the importance of engaging bureau level ACMs and other agency leaders to help broadcast messages as needed.

1. ACM Responsibility: Data Driven Workforce Management

Data Driven Workforce Management

Manage the identification and development of the acquisition workforce, including identifying staffing needs, training requirements, and other workforce development strategies. Maintain and manage consistent agency-wide data on those serving in the agency's acquisition workforce in the acquisition career management information system (FAITAS).¹

Overview of Data Driven Workforce Management

This responsibility area entails the ACM maintaining and using data to monitor his/her agency's acquisition workforce and assessing its needs. This responsibility supports the execution of the OFPP Memorandum, Increasing Efficiencies in the Training, Development, and Management of the Acquisition Workforce, September 3, 2013, which is meant to reduce duplication of workforce management information systems and leverage scarce training resources across agencies. Given the breadth of activities encompassed by this responsibility area, this chapter is divided into three sections:

- Identifying Developmental Needs
- Identifying Staffing Needs
- Maintaining Acquisition Workforce Data

Each topic is discussed in more detail in the sections below. Key tasks associated with this responsibility are provided in the table below.

Key Tasks for Data Driven Workforce Management

The primary tasks involved in implementing this responsibility entail the following:

- Managing agency's certification process: receive, process, determine, and award certifications
- Maintaining an accurate count of agency's acquisition workforce
- Ensuring that the agency's acquisition workforce data is accurately reflected in FAITAS for:
 - Positions in the general schedule contracting series (GS-1102) and non-Department of Defense (DoD) uniformed personnel in comparable positions;
 - Contracting officers regardless of general schedule series with authority to obligate funds above the micro-purchase threshold;
 - P/PMS; and
 - Contracting Officer's Representatives (CORs)
- Ensuring compliance with OFPP policies regarding maintaining acquisition workforce data and the identification of developmental and staffing needs
- Identifying agency's training needs (e.g., evaluate Federal Acquisition Certification competencies) to close competency gaps and ensuring the workforce achieves and maintains certification requirements
- Ensuring that the training received for Federal Acquisition Certification (FAC) meets the requirements

¹ OFPP's Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce, Section 6, c \(a\) and c\(h\).

Key Tasks for Data Driven Workforce Management

as stated in the various FAC policies

- Using FAITAS to manage agency's acquisition workforce FACs and continuous learning
- Serving as agency's primary POC for all FAITAS-related matters

Identifying Developmental Needs

An agency ACM is tasked with overseeing the development of the acquisition workforce, which includes identifying learning needs, strategies, and potential career development opportunities. According to feedback from ACMs, the majority of developmental activities that they are involved with are related to certification requirements and training. FAC programs are designed to establish consistent competencies and standards for those performing acquisition-related work in civilian agencies. Certifications are federal standards recognized across agencies but do not guarantee assignment or advancement. The FAC programs include:

- Contracting \(FAC-C\),
- Contracting Officer's Representative \(FAC-COR\), and
- Program and Project Managers \(FAC-P/PM\).

More information about these programs, including related policies, certification requirements, training, continuous learning, and other related topics can be found on the FAI Certifications webpage.

ACM's can refer to their agency's Acquisition Workforce Competency Survey \(AWCS\) to help identify potential developmental needs. To develop strategies to address these needs, ACMs can leverage training provided by FAI or other agencies. An ACM is also charged with managing his/her agency's certification process, which is often closely intertwined with the agency's developmental activities for the acquisition employees. Additionally, it is the ACM's responsibility to ensure that the training received for FACs meets the requirements as stated in the various FAC policies.² Additional information about the AWCS, training provided by FAI, and managing agency certification programs is provided below.

Acquisition Workforce Competency Survey

The AWCS collects competency proficiency data across the Contracting, COR, and P/PM functional areas and is the resource most frequently cited by ACMs for use in identifying developmental needs. The data collected from the survey can be used at both a government-wide level and at an agency-specific level to inform key strategic workforce planning decisions.

The AWCS is administered bi-annually by FAI in partnership with the OFPP. It has four primary objectives:

- Identify the strengths and weaknesses of the federal civilian acquisition workforce,
- Help in identifying potential training needs of the acquisition workforce,
- Improve the acquisition human capital planning actions and activities to develop an agile and qualified acquisition workforce, and
- Gauge the developmental progress of the acquisition community in targeted areas.

² For more information, see the FAI.gov certifications page.

FAI provides each agency with agency-specific AWCS data to assist the ACM with analyzing the data and identifying their workforces' strengths and weaknesses. The most recent government-wide AWCS Report can be accessed via the FAI Human Capital Planning webpage.

Training Provided by FAI

Training Identification Process: FAI's training supports the Federal Acquisition Certification (FAC) programs. Although primary responsibility for training remains with each agency, FAI provides training courses to supplement Agency training requirements. In order to assess annual training requirements, FAI solicits information from the ACMs to better manage fiscally-constrained resources through the following process:

- FAI uses the Acquisition Workforce Competency Survey \(AWCS\) to identify proficiency gaps and training requirements. The results of this survey are then used to inform FAI's training team on the training requirements and resource investments needed for the following fiscal year.
- FAI issues an annual training requirements data call to identify agency training course requirements, the number of seats requested, and the locations where training is needed. Based on the training needs analysis, FAI prepares a proposed list of courses and training activities for the following year to ensure the requirements remain within available FAI budget constraints.
- FAI then holds a "Training Requirements Conference" to meet with the ACMs to review the data and finalize training needs. The Training Requirements Conference includes ACMs, training managers, FAB members, subject matter experts (SMEs), and FAI acquisition program executives (APEs). The results of the requirements conference are then used to inform the FAI training team on the resource requirements for the following fiscal year.
 - ACMs are given the chance to suggest other courses that may not have been included in the draft proposal.
 - ACMs may revise the requested number of training courses, training seats, and geographical location of the training for FAI consideration; however, FAI is the decision-making authority regarding what is offered within available funding constraints.
 - Historical data from FAITAS provides additional information on the number and geographical location of persons who are eligible for a given course.

For a list of the training course prefixes used for FAI courses, see Appendix C.

Acquisition Seminars: In addition to training courses, FAI sponsors Acquisition Seminars, which are webcasts highlighting current acquisition topics and government-wide human capital initiatives. Continuous Learning Points (CLPs) are automatically earned for participation in the live sessions for those participants registered through FAITAS. These sessions are recorded and placed in the fai.gov media library and available to be viewed later. Viewers of the recorded sessions may request CLP credit from their agency using the FAITAS Continuous Learning Point Request feature. Seminars are conducted several times per year and have addressed subjects like COR certification, small business strategies, the Automated Requirements Roadmap Tool (ARRT), the Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative (FSSI), suspension and debarment, vendor engagement, past performance, Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR), and preventing and defending against bid protests. FAI's Acquisition Seminars can be viewed from FAI's Media Library at: http://www.fai.gov/media_library/. If you have suggestions of topics for future seminars or would like to share training videos or other related items, please send them to contact@fai.gov with the subject line "Acquisition Seminar Suggestions and Materials."

Knowledge Nugget Collection: Knowledge nuggets are short animated videos that provide a brief overview of an acquisition topic. Given that Knowledge Nuggets are too short a duration for FAITAS to currently track, FAI does not recommend granting CLPs, because the ACM administrative costs associated with aggregating them into CLP credits outweighs the benefits of giving credit. However, ACMs should promote them as a valuable resource in staying current with on important issues. The videos can be accessed at: https://www.fai.gov/media_library/exhibits/show/knowledgenuggets/knowledge-nuggets.

Continuous Learning Points: Information about training CLPs and how they are calculated is provided in Appendix B.

Suggested Steps for Identifying Developmental Needs

The following table provides a set of suggested steps for ACMs to use in identifying training needs based on input from IACMC members. These steps are not required and can be adapted as needed.

Identifying Staffing Needs

While the identification of staffing needs is listed as an ACM responsibility in OFPP Policy Letter 05-01, most ACMs reported that they are not involved in this process and that these decisions are typically made at higher levels in the organization. Several ACMs reported that they play a small consultative role or are asked to provide data to support the identification of staffing needs. In these cases, the ACMs stated that they primarily respond to requests for data, which is gathered from FAITAS and provided to others in their agency, such as the SPE, CAO, or management.

ACMS were surveyed on which of the 41 FAITAS reports they use most frequently for developmental and staffing needs. The following FAITAS reports, which can be accessed after logging into FAITAS, were identified as those most frequently used for these purposes.

- Bureau User Detail Report
- Certifications Issued by Certification Type
- CL Status – Current vs. Expired Summary Report
- Supervisor Report
- Terminated and Expired Warrants Report
- User Detail Report
- Warrant Holder Detail Report
- Warrant Levels Report

Among these reports, the CL Status report was the most frequently used. For more information on each report, ACMs should consult the FAITAS Available Reports Quick Start Guide³, which provide an overview and guidance on all available reports and how to access them.

Maintaining Acquisition Workforce Data

ACMs are required to ensure that their agency’s acquisition workforce data is accurately reflected in FAITAS for:

- Positions in the general schedule contracting series (GS-1102) and non-DoD uniformed personnel in comparable positions;
- Contracting officers regardless of general schedule series with authority to obligate funds above the micro-purchase threshold;
- P/PMs; and
- Contracting Officer’s Representatives (CORs)

³ The FAITAS QuickStart Guides are available after logging into FAITAS.

The FAITAS Business Analytic Tool (BAT) is an online dashboard designed to provide key workforce metrics to agencies and, at a government-wide level to FAI. The interactive dashboard allows agency representatives to view both current and historical acquisition workforce data, which can be used in a variety of planning and measurement activities. The FAITAS BAT enables agencies to look across their workforce on a variety of data elements, including:

- FAITAS Registrants
- FAITAS Certifications
- Acquisition Training Utilization
- Workforce Demographics (e.g., location)

The following resources are available if assistance is required with FAITAS:

- FAITAS Help Desk
- FAITAS FAQs
- FAITAS QuickStart Guides (available after logging into FATAS)

Tip for ACMs: Identifying CORs

Many ACMs have reported that identifying CORs is the most challenging aspect of maintaining their agency’s workforce data given the transitory nature of these roles. Given that the definition of this role can vary by agency and its transitory nature, ACMs report that it can be difficult to maintain an accurate count of COR numbers. ACMs report that using the warrant modules in FAITAS or their agency contract writing system has allowed them to effectively track employees in these roles.

Tools, Resources, and Source Documents for Data Driven Workforce Management

A summary of related tools, resources, and source documents associated with this responsibility are provided in the table below. Additionally, Appendix D, ACM Responsibilities and AHCP Dashboard Data Visualizations, and Appendix E, AHCP Dashboard Data Visualizations Details, provide guidance regarding the charts and visualizations that can be used to obtain relevant data from FAITAS.

2. ACM Responsibility: Budgeting for the Development of the Acquisition Workforce

Budgeting for the Development of the Acquisition Workforce

Propose to the CAO an annual budget for the development of the acquisition workforce to fulfill the requirements of OFPP Policy Letter 05-01 and other agency human capital objectives.⁴

Overview of Budgeting for the Development of the Acquisition Workforce

Acquisition workforce development entails training, continuing education, and professional development activities that are targeted at acquisition professionals. The budgeting process for acquisition workforce development varies across the Federal Government and an ACM's role is a function of the agency in which they work. For example, some ACMs report that their agency acquisition workforce development budgets are determined by a single centralized office such as procurement or human resources. Others state that their CFO provides a training budget for all agency employees or that the SPE provides a training budget for acquisition employees. Conversely, some ACMs report that their agencies employ a bottom-up approach where budgeting decisions are decentralized and made within individual bureaus or organizational units. While the exact processes differ among agencies, most ACMs note that their involvement with the budgeting cycle is limited and some indicate that they have no involvement at all. The most frequently reported role in the process entails providing data and information to the CAO, SPE, or other organizational leaders for their use in making budgetary decisions.

For those ACM's that are more actively involved in his/her agency's budgeting process, the following key tasks may be performed.

Key Tasks for Budgeting for the Development of the Acquisition Workforce

The primary tasks involved in implementing this responsibility entail the following:⁵

- Ensuring the agency CAO identifies funding that is specifically intended for the development of the agency's acquisition workforce in coordination with the CHCO office⁶
- Forecasting the scope and cost of annual training requirements and submit related agency budget documentation to be included in the agency's portion of the President's budget
- Completing the annual AHCP process to: (a) help identify training and development needs for the AWF, and (b) inform the resourcing and budgeting process to support and fulfill AWF human capital objectives

Suggested Steps for Budgeting for the Development of the Acquisition Workforce

The following table provides a set of suggested steps for ACMs to use when completing this responsibility based on input from IACMC members. These steps are not required and can be adapted as needed.

⁴ OFPP's Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce, Section 6, c \(b\).

⁵ Additional information about identifying training needs is included in chapter 1, Data Driven Workforce Management, and information about the AHCP process is included in chapter 3, Strategic Human Capital Planning.

⁶ Note that in some agencies, the CAO only has purview over the acquisition professionals (1102 series) and not P/PMs and CORs.

3. ACM Responsibility: Strategic Human Capital Planning

Strategic Human Capital Planning

Work with the Chief Acquisition Officer (CAO) to develop and update the agency's AHCP. Provide coordinated input to the CAO and CHCO regarding short and long term human capital strategic planning for training, competency fulfillment, career development, accession, recruitment and retention, and other facets of human capital management affecting the acquisition workforce⁷.

Overview of Strategic Human Capital Planning

The purpose of the AHCP process is to provide for the strategic management of the acquisition workforce. This process is important because recruiting, hiring, and retaining an agile and high-quality federal workforce is essential to the efficiency, effectiveness, and stewardship of agency acquisition program objectives, outcomes, and results.

The AHCP process serves as the primary mechanism for planning long and short term acquisition workforce initiatives. Additionally, the information gathered through the AHCP process is used to help promote cross-agency collaboration and identify areas where systematic, government-wide support for programs and initiatives can be provided.

Key Tasks for Strategic Human Capital Planning

The primary tasks involved in implementing this responsibility entail the following:

- Communicating initiatives and strategies to support agency's acquisition workforce strategies for:
 - Offering training and career development opportunities
 - Ensuring that the workforce is certified
 - Sustaining a capable and qualified acquisition workforce
 - Ensuring continuous learning requirements are met
- Developing and maintaining an agency-specific career roadmap for each certification area that:
 - aligns with the experience requirements for each certification area, by certification level, and
 - offers agency workforce members a clear understanding of multiple career progression paths, advancement potential, and opportunities in the agency
- Reviewing and updating the agency's AHCP during the 1Q , and submitting the Plan to OFPP annually during the 2Q⁸
- Ensuring that the agency AHCP reflects specific hiring and training needs for the upcoming fiscal year and use this data to inform the agency's budget preparation

FAITAS is the primary tool used in the AHCP process and ACMs should submit their plans and related information directly into it. The FAITAS AHCP module consists of four sections:

⁷ OFPP's Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce, Section 6, c \(c\).

⁸ OFPP's Memorandum on Acquisition Workforce Development Strategic Plan for Civilian Agencies – FY2010-2014

- Section I. Strategic Alignment of Acquisition with Agency Mission – This section asks the ACM to provide information about your agency’s mission and significant accomplishments, challenges, and goals related to managing the acquisition workforce.
- Section II. Acquisition Overview – This section asks the ACM to validate existing information about your agency’s acquisition workforce data by functional area, data for FAC areas, and the ACM role.
- Section III. Acquisition Human Capital Initiatives – This section contains questions about the progress your agency made in the prior fiscal year towards managing the acquisition-related programs and initiatives that the ACM reported in the previous AHCP and allows the Agency to add new initiatives that will be started in the out-years.
- Section IV. Acquisition Specific Training Costs – This section has the ACM download an Excel file and populate it with acquisition training cost data from his/her agency.
- Section V. Increasing Efficiencies in the Training, Development, and Management of the Acquisition Workforce – This section contains questions regarding the agency’s progress towards the milestones outlined in the September 2013 OFPP memo on Increasing Efficiencies in the Training, Development, and Management of the Acquisition Workforce.

Where applicable, the FAITAS AHCP module includes access to historical data that can be copied into the plan to make the process more efficient and data reporting more accurate for ACMs. Specific instructions for completing the AHCP are provided in the instructions within the FAITAS AHCP module.

Suggested Steps for Strategic Human Capital Planning

The following table provides a set of suggested steps for ACMs to use when completing this responsibility based on input from IACMC members. These steps are not required and can be adapted as needed.

4. ACM Responsibility: Acquisition Workforce Policies and Procedures

Policy Alignment

Ensure that agency policies and procedures for workforce management are consistent with those established by Office of Federal Procurement (OFPP), as appropriate.⁹

Overview of Acquisition Workforce Policies and Procedures

The ACM, in coordination with his/her agency's SPE and CAO, is responsible for ensuring that the agency's acquisition workforce meets the requirements of OFPP policies and related guidance.

Key Tasks for Acquisition Workforce Policies and Procedures

- Develop agency-specific policies, procedures, and requirements (e.g., certification requirements) that are consistent and current with federal acquisition requirements
- Serve on the IACMC and FABs to ensure that workforce development policies and opportunities meet the needs of the Government and Agency's workforce
- Implement and monitor compliance with OFPP policy requirements and identify challenges if appropriate

Where to Find Policy Information

Information about the latest OFPP policies and guidance can be obtained through the following sources:

- OFPP Workforce Management Policies Webpage
- FAI Governance Webpage
- FAI Training Frequently Asked Questions Page \(for training related policy information\)
- OFPP Notes from the Administrator - These notes are available online under the acquisition area of the MAX.gov website, which is available to Federal government employees and contractors with a Federal government email address. Registered MAX users can access the document by clicking the link.

Additionally, information about proposed, new, and existing policies and guidance are routinely discussed at IACMC and FAB meetings. ACMs are encouraged to participate in these groups so that they can stay informed of recent changes and share best practices and learn how to properly implement the latest policies and guidance within their agencies.

Where to Get Help

Once policies and guidance are issued, ACMs, in coordination with the agency SPE, CAO and affected stakeholders, should translate them into agency-specific policies and procedures. It's not uncommon for questions to arise over how best to interpret or implement policies and guidance. The following FAI personnel are available to assist ACMs with such questions regarding the following topics as they arise:

- Human capital planning: FAI Human Capital Initiatives Manager
- FAC-C Certification: FAI Acquisition Program Executive (APE), FAC-C

⁹ OFPP's Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce, Section 6, c \(e\).

- FAC-P/PM Certification: FAI APE, FAC-P/PM
- FAC-COR Certification: FAI APE, FAC-COR
- FAITAS: FAI FAITAS Program Manager
- Training and Development: FAI CLO

Contact information for these individuals can be found on the FAI website's Contact Us page.

Questions regarding OFPP policies may also be directed at the OFPP personnel that have issued the letter or memorandum or their representatives.

Additionally, ACMs are also encouraged to reach out to their peers at other agencies, either within or outside of the IACMC and FAB groups, to share best practices. The complete list of ACMs can be searched on the FAI ACM webpage.

Suggested Steps for Acquisition Workforce Policies and Procedures

5. ACM Responsibility: GS-1102 Education and Training Waivers

GS-1102 Education and Training Waivers

In accordance with the May 7, 2014 OFPP Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification in Contracting \(FAC-C\), recommend to the Senior Procurement Executive (SPE) waivers to the GS-1102 education and training provisions of OFPP Policy Letter 05-01 as needed for hiring and warranting purposes in accordance with the qualification standards.¹⁰

Overview of GS-1102 Education and Training Waivers

The General Schedule (GS) Qualification Standard for the Contracting Occupational Series developed by OFPP under the authority of 41 U.S.C. 433, identifies GS-1102 educational requirements for the GS-5 through GS-12 grade levels and for the GS-13 level and above. Education and training requirements for certification purposes are found in the OFPP Policy Letter 05-01 as well as the May 7, 2014 OFPP Policy Letter. The education requirements for certification are the same requirements as the ones found in the General Schedule Qualification Standard for the Contracting Occupational Series.

OFPP Policy Letter 05-01 states that agency SPEs may grant waivers to the educational and training requirements for the GS-13 level and above under certain circumstances. Those circumstances include only hiring and warranting purposes. SPEs cannot waive the education or training requirements for the purposes of certification.

The educational requirements found in the GS Qualification Standard for the Contracting Occupational Series and the OFPP policy letters do not apply to defense agency positions; instead, applicable requirements are set forth in DAWIA under 10 U.S.C. 1724. DoD positions regardless of grade require both a bachelor's degree and 24 hours of business for hiring and certification purposes.

Key Tasks for GS-1102 Education and Training Waivers

The primary tasks involved in implementing this responsibility entail the following:

- Following current OFPP GS-1102 education and training requirements for the GS-13 level and above, and ensure agency specific requirements comply with this guidance.
- Processing waivers only on an exceptional basis and for extenuating circumstances.

Certification Waivers for Warrants

In addition to education and training waivers, ACMs may also assist with waivers of certification requirements for warrants as specified in the May 7, 2014 OFPP Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification in Contracting (FAC-C), which states that:

The agency's CAO, or SPE if so delegated, may waive the requirement for obtaining a certification for warranting purposes in writing, on a case-by-case basis, if granting a waiver is in the best interest of the agency. Waivers shall only be granted for exceptional and compelling reasons. This authority may not be delegated further. A written justification shall include the reason for and conditions of the waiver, and the agency's ACM or designee shall maintain all supporting documentation. This waiver is not transferable to another agency.

Suggested Steps for GS-1102 Education and Training Waivers

The following table provides a set of suggested steps for ACMs to use when completing this responsibility based on input from IACMC members. These steps are not required and can be adapted as needed.

Suggested Steps	Relevant Materials	Who Might be Involved?	Keys to Success

ACMs state that, at a minimum, the following information is typically included in a waiver request submission:

- Why other qualified candidates are not readily available for the position;
- Details on how the candidate shows potential for advancement to levels of greater responsibility and authority based on demonstrated analytical and decision making capabilities, job performance, qualifying experience, etc.;
- Any remedial actions that will be taken to meet the educational and training requirements along with associated timeframes; and
- The impact on the agency should the SPE not issue a waiver for the candidate.

Note that additional information may be required by the SPE when evaluating waiver requests and that the exact information may vary by agency.

6. ACM Responsibility: P/PM Certification Extensions

P/PM Certification Extensions

In accordance with the December 16, 2013 Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification for Program and Project Managers, FAC-P/PM), recommend to the agency CAO, or designee, on a case-by-case basis, extensions to the date which a P/PM must be certified. Extensions are for an additional 12 months. The requirement to be certified cannot be waived.¹¹

Overview of P/PM Certification Extensions

Federal employees assigned as P/PMs must have a FAC-P/PM certification at a level determined by the agency as appropriate to best meet agency goals and objectives. Additionally, OFPP identifies (in the December 16, 2013 Memorandum, Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification for Program and Project Managers, FAC-P/PM), specific certification level requirements for P/PMs assigned to one of the following programs:

- P/PMs assigned to major acquisition programs, as defined by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-11 (IT and non-IT), are required to be senior-level certified.
- P/PMs assigned to lead projects within these major acquisition programs are required to be, at a minimum, mid-level certified.
- P/PMs that are the assigned leads of primary integrated project teams (IPTs) supporting agency major acquisitions are recommended to be mid-level certified.
- P/PMs managing IT programs that support, or have key integration functions with, major non-IT programs shall be at least mid-level certified in the FAC-P/PM Core-Plus Specialization in Information Technology (FAC-P/PM-IT).

The completion date for these certifications is 12 months from the date of assignment to the program or project; however, the agency's CAO, or his/her designee, may extend in writing, on a case-by-case basis, the date upon which a P/PM must be certified by an additional 12 months if it is in the best interest of the agency. Written justification shall be provided that includes the reason for and conditions of the extension, and the agency's ACM or designee shall maintain all supporting documentation. Note that ACMs report that extensions are issued infrequently. Waivers of the P/PM certification are not allowed.

Key Tasks for P/PM Certification Extensions

- The primary tasks involved in implementing this responsibility entail the following:
- Extensions are to be processed only if in the best interests of the agency.
- Written justification shall be provided that includes the reason and conditions for the extension, and the ACM shall maintain all supporting documentation.

III. Key Acquisition Leaders and Groups

The following list provides an overview of key federal acquisition leaders and groups with which ACMs most frequently interact. Within the ACM’s agency, these include the CAO and SPE, who ACMs may be expected to assist in executing their responsibilities with regard to managing the acquisition workforce. ACMs also engage in inter-agency working groups such as the IACMC, FACT, and FABs. Additionally, other organizations such as the CAOC, OFPP, and FAI provide a source of guidance and direction for ACM activities.

Federal Acquisition Institute	Established in 1976 under the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act, FAI has been charged with fostering and promoting the development of a federal acquisition workforce. FAI facilitates and promotes career development and strategic human capital management for the acquisition workforce. FAI coordinates with organizations such as OFPP, the CAOC, and the IACMC to develop and implement strategies to meet the needs of the current and future acquisition workforce. In conjunction with its partners, FAI seeks to ensure availability of exceptional training, provide compelling research, promote professionalism, and improve acquisition workforce management. Website: www.fai.gov

IV. Source Documents

The primary focus and emphasis of the OMB policies regarding the federal acquisition workforce are contained in OFPP's Policy Letter 05-01 on Developing and Managing the Acquisition Workforce, which supersedes and rescinds two earlier policy letters, OFPP Policy Letter 92-03 and OFPP Policy Letter 97-01.

Some of the key provisions of Policy Letter 05-01 pertinent to the acquisition workforce are that it:

- Expands the definition of the acquisition workforce “...to include, among the traditional contracting functions, requirements definition, measurement of contract performance, and technical and management direction;”
- Directs affected agencies to develop and maintain an acquisition career management program and include the acquisition workforce in their human capital plans;
- Directs agencies to appoint Acquisition Career Managers who are responsible for administering the provision of Policy Letter 05-01;
- Directs FAI to propose certification programs for Contracting, P/PMs, and CORs; and
- Provides additional guidance on the use of the Acquisition Workforce Training Fund (AWTF).

Additionally, OMB has also issued a number of memoranda which contain guidance for the management of the acquisition workforce, including the administration of the FAC-C, FAC-P/PM, and FAC-COR career fields. These include:

- The December 23, 2014 Memo on Strengthening Employee Engagement and Organizational Performance from OMB provides guidance to support agencies' efforts to strengthen an organizational culture of employee engagement and mission performance in accordance with priorities established in the President's Management Agenda (PMA) Cross Agency Priority (CAP) goal on People and Culture.
- The May 7, 2014 Memo on Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification in Contracting \(FAC-C\) from OFPP refreshes OFPP's requirements for the FAC-C.
- The December 16, 2013 Memo on Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification for Program and Project Managers \(FAC-P/PM\) from OFPP is designed to strengthen civilian agency P/PMs to improve program outcomes, and reflects the need to improve the management of high-risk, high-impact programs.
- The September 3, 2013 Memo on Increasing Efficiencies in the Training, Development, and Management of the Acquisition Workforce from OFPP details policy changes aimed at reducing duplicative training and development efforts and saving taxpayer dollars.
- The September 6, 2011 Memo on Revisions to the Federal Acquisition Certification for Contracting Officer's Representatives \(FAC-COR\) from OFPP refreshes the requirements to better align the FAC-C with the DoD's Defense Acquisition Workforce Improvement Act (DAWIA) contracting certification curriculum and to strengthen the development of civilian agency contracting professionals.
- The July 13, 2011 Memo on Guidance for Specialized Information Technology Acquisition Cadres from OFPP includes the establishment of a Community of Practice (CoP) for developing cadres and strengthening IT acquisition skills and the exploration of “core plus” certifications in IT acquisitions.
- The October 27, 2009 memo on Acquisition Workforce Development Strategic Plan for Civilian Agencies – FY 2010-2014 from OFPP describes the annual acquisition workforce planning process and related expectations for agencies.

- The April 25, 2007 Memo on The Federal Acquisition Certification Program for Program and Project Managers \(FAC-P/PM\) from OFPP contains requirements for achieving certification and guidance for administering the program.
- The January 20, 2006 Memo on The Federal Acquisition Certification in Contracting Program \(FAC-C\) from OMB contains requirements for achieving certification and guidance for administering the program.
- OFPP has also issued Qualification Standards for the 1102 Series (Contracting).

ACMs should also be familiar with the following legislation:

- Public Law 113-291, FY2015 NDAA, Subtitle D, FITARA, Section 835 provides direction to agencies for meeting human capital requirements to support the timely and effective acquisition of information technology.

The following websites are updated regularly to contain the most recent information regarding relevant policies, guidance, and regulations:

V. Appendices

Appendix A: CAO Responsibilities

The responsibilities of the CAO include the following, as defined in the October 18, 2012 OFPP Memorandum, Clarifying Chief Acquisition Officer Roles and Responsibilities. CAO responsibilities may be delegated to the ACMs. ACMs should refer to their CAO and agency policies to verify which, if any, have been delegated.

The primary duty of a CAO is acquisition management. A CAO shall advise and assist the head of the executive agency and other agency officials to ensure that the mission of the executive agency is achieved through the management of the agency's acquisition activities. CAOs are also responsible for:

1. monitoring the performance of acquisition activities and acquisition programs of the executive agency, evaluating the performance of those programs on the basis of applicable performance measurements, and advising the head of the executive agency regarding the appropriate business strategy to achieve the mission of the executive agency;
2. increasing the use of full and open competition in the acquisition of property and services by the executive agency by establishing policies, procedures, and practices that ensure that the executive agency receives a sufficient number of sealed bids or competitive proposals from responsible sources to fulfill the Federal Government's requirements (including performance and delivery schedules) at the lowest cost or best value considering the nature of the property or service procured;
3. increasing appropriate use of performance-based contracting and performance specifications where appropriate;
4. making acquisition decisions consistent with all applicable laws and establishing clear lines of authority, accountability, and responsibility for acquisition decision-making within the executive agency;
5. managing the direction of acquisition policy for the executive agency, including implementation of the unique acquisition policies, regulations, and standards of the executive agency;
6. developing and maintaining an acquisition career management program in the executive agency to ensure that there is an adequate professional workforce; and
7. as part of the strategic planning and performance evaluation process required under section 306 of title 5 and sections 1105(a)(28), 1115, 1116, and 9703 (added by section 5(a) of Public Law 103-62 (107 Stat. 289)) of title 31 –
 - assessing the requirements established for agency personnel regarding knowledge and skill in acquisition resources management and the adequacy of those requirements for facilitating the achievement of the performance goals established for acquisition management;
 - developing strategies and specific plans for hiring, training, and professional development to rectify a deficiency in meeting those requirements; and
 - reporting to the head of the executive agency on the progress made in improving acquisition management capability.

Appendix F: Example Waiver Request Form for GS-1102 Training Requirements

The template below was provided by a federal agency as an example of a form used to request a waiver for GS-1102 hiring purposes. Use of this form is not required and if used, it should be adapted as needed based on the agency's needs.

Sample Template

Acquisition Career Management – Quick Reference Guide and GS-1102 Training Waiver Request

This is a template that may be used to request a SPE Waiver for GS-1102, Grade 13 and above. Please coordinate with your service/region's acquisition management office for additional guidance and recent updates to this requirement. Please email the complete package to [contact email] with the subject: WAIVER REQUEST.

MEMORANDUM FOR: [SPE name]

Senior Procurement Executive
[Office Name]

THRU:

[ACM name]
Acquisition Career Manager
[Office Name]

FROM:

[Requesting Official]

SUBJECT: Request for a Temporary Class Waiver of Mandatory Training requirements to select a candidate in the GS-1102 Contracting Series at Grade 13 (or above)

PURPOSE: The purpose of this memorandum to request a ____ [time period] ____ temporary class waiver, effective from the date of the approval of this request. If approved, this waiver will authorize _____ [requesting organization] to extend an offer of employment to _____ [name of applicant], for a GS-1102-XX, Grade ____ , _____ position in the office of _____ [insert organization].

BACKGROUND: In accordance with GSA Acquisition Letter V-09-07 dated July 15, 2009, current and incoming GSA GS-1102 employees seeking hiring placement into positions at grades 13 and above are eligible for temporary waiver consideration if they do not meet the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) qualification standards. It is GSA's policy, on a case-by-case basis to grant temporary class waivers allowing the hiring of GSA acquisition workforce members in the GS-1102, Contracting Series at grade 13 and above that have not completed all of the mandatory training required pursuant to the OPM GS-1102 qualification standards.

Explain the professional expertise and/or areas that create the need for a waiver.

- Sample language if the education requirements have been satisfied (4 year degree & 24 hours of business); but applicant has not completed all training.

For example: Mr./Ms. John/Jane Doe, holds a ____ degree and a ____ degree and has therefore met the requirement for a baccalaureate degree and 24 semester hours of business credits. Additionally he/she has ____ years of ____ experience and has ____ years of expertise in _____, etc. However, he/she still needs to complete the following training to satisfy the mandatory training requirements.

- List all required courses needed by the applicant to attain FAC-C Level II and provide a get-well plan. _____
- If the training is classroom based and applicant has registered for training in FAITAS, please identify the dates in this paragraph and attach a copy of the FAITAS training reservation to the package.
- If the training is classroom based and organization has procured the training through a commercial vendor, please identify the dates in this paragraph and attach a copy of the training reservation to the package.
- If the training is online using FAITAS registration, the applicant should be scheduled for at least the first class that is needed. Please indicate the enrollment date(s) and attach a copy of the FAITAS training reservation to the package. Again, please address all aspects of the areas for which a waiver is being sought.

Explain why the applicant was selected for the position so as to provide the basis for requested action of the Senior Procurement Executive.

- Include the data to support the waiver request for the hiring action. For example, “The total number of applicants that were referred to the selecting official was eleven (11). The total number of referred applicants that fully met the qualification standards was ten (10). _____ is the most qualified candidate because of _____.”
- Standard language: The waiver request must include the following language:
 - Once a temporary waiver has been granted, the “GSA Agreement to Condition or Employment Based on Employee’s Receipt of Waiver of Training or Semester Hours/Course Work for Requirements for GS-1102 Position” form will be executed.
 - A copy of the executed agreement must be forwarded to the ACM for filing.
 - If the waiver request is due to training, on the agreement, be sure to explain how the training progress will be monitored such as IDP, progress reviews, and/or other information that will basically offer a risk mitigation plan for this action. Include a statement that training will be completed within the timeframe requested.
